Improving road safety

Hamish, Jill and Chris are working to improve road safety across Carshalton Central Hamish, Jill and Chris are glad to see that work will start soon on three much needed new road schemes.

Ruskin Road, Carshalton

A parallel pedestrian and cyclists crossing is being installed near the main entrance to Carshalton Park - which is designed to help improve road safety.

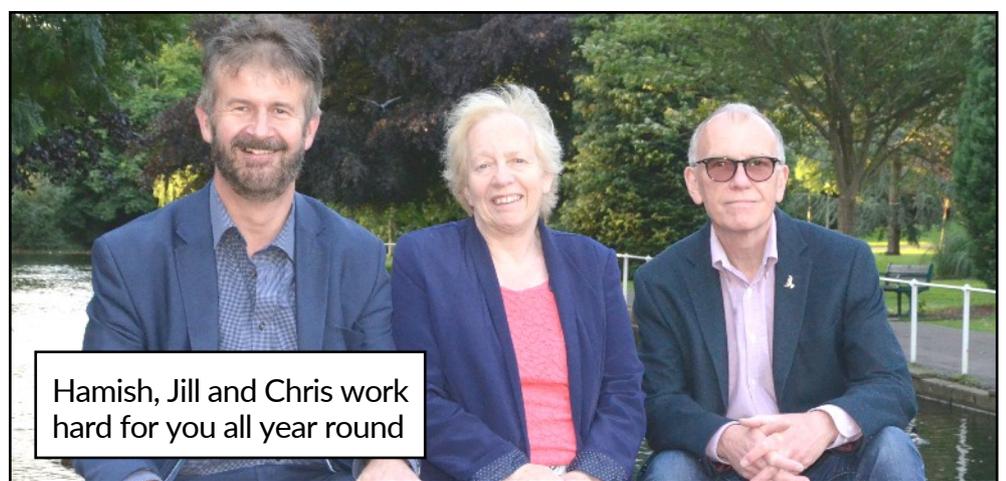

The crossing replaces a pair of refuge islands outside Nos 29 to 35 Ruskin Road, close to the green lane from Talbot Road, opposite The Square.

Through listening to residents, we have ensured that the final design meets the needs of walkers and cyclists alike.

Westmead Road, Sutton

A new roundabout will be built at the junction of Westmead Road with Ringstead Road and Kingsley Avenue, together with traffic calming measures at the approaches to the junction to slow speeding traffic.

The new layout will improve sight lines at the junctions, and deter unsafe parking at the corner of Kingsley Avenue which currently makes it difficult for drivers turning right out of Kingsley Avenue into Westmead Road to see clearly.

Mill Lane, Carshalton

Changes will be made at the narrow junction of Mill Lane and Butter Hill to improve traffic flow and clarify rights of way.

After meeting local residents, we have raised a number of concerns with the original design proposal. The changes will help improve pedestrian safety by reducing speeding on the Butter Hill side of the junction down to the bridge over the River Wandle.

Traffic entering the junction will be encouraged to slow down by improved signage and traffic calming measures.
